EDUCATION

Dubbo is a City of high achievers, and is home to a broad range of quality educational institutions and services.

The City has a well established and expanding high quality pre-school, public and private education network. Tertiary institutions support an increasing demand for skilled labour and are key to developing Dubbo's 'knowledge economy'.

Dubbo's educational network:

- Four tertiary institutes
- Three public secondary schools
- Three private secondary schools
- Seven public primary schools
- Five private primary schools
- 17 preschools/childcare centres

Dubbo pioneered the 'super school' concept in regional NSW with the development of the Dubbo Senior Campus.

The City has a growing tertiary-qualified workforce. In 2011, 64.7% of persons aged over 15 in the workforce, have some form of tertiary qualification, with just over 29% holding a Bachelor Degree or higher.

With four tertiary and vocational education institutions, the City is well equipped to service the higher education, development and training needs of the local market.
